TUFTS

Tufts, founded in 1852, is the second oldest institution in the Boston area. Tufts boasts academic excellence, a diverse and challenging environment, and a beautiful campus. The Hill is a home to 4,800 undergraduates pursuing degrees in the liberal arts and engineering.

Class of 2004 welcomed with refurbished campus

by MATTHEW KANE
Daily Editorial Board

While the phrase "the best and brightest ever" could probably be heard in any university president's matriculation speech, it's a cliché that fits when describing the 1,185 freshmen that are unpacking their belongings and moving onto campus for the first time this morning. While most of the class of 2004 moves in today, many have already been on campus for several days, including those who came early for athletics, international orientation, and wilderness orientation.

The statistics on this year's freshmen class show that it lives up to the "best and the brightest" billing. Forty eight percent of enrolling students were ranked in the top five of their high school class, while the average class rank was in the ninth percentile. The middle 50 percent of enrolling students had an SAT verbal range of 610-700 and a math range of 630-720, signifying a 45 point aggregate SAT score increase in the last seven years.

The class of 2004 boasts the most competitive acceptance rate in University history, with 25 percent of the applicant pool admitted, down seven percent from last year. This is largely due to an increase in the number of students applying to Tufts, with a record 14,200 in last year's pool. That means that the University has an increased opportunity to work with highly talented and diverse applicants when putting together a freshman class, according to Dean of Admissions David Cuttino.

As a result, "The University is more consistently sharing with other leading universities' offers of admissions to applicants. [And] despite greater competition to enroll some of the most talented students in the world, the percentage of students accepting the offer of admission [at Tufts] has increased by four percent in the last three years," Cuttino said.

However they were selected, the freshmen seem excited to get their college careers started – and some are already looking forward to their first study break. "I heard that it was a really good academic place and a good party school, so I'm waiting for that," said freshman Tanya Santos, who hails from the Phillipines and was here early for International Orientation.

Despite their record-breaking numbers, the class of 2004 bears striking similarities to previous classes. Their hopes and goals for the next four years look much like those of their predecessors, especially when it comes to those all-important "quality-of-life" concerns.

"Where are all the girls in this dorm," one freshman called to a newfound friend walking through his dorm. "All I've seen since I've gotten here are guys."

Aside from its coeducational residence halls, Tufts' attractiveness can be attributed to a number of developments over the past several years. While Tufts' proximity to Boston has always been a selling point, the University has also taken steps to improve and expand the main Medford/Somerville campus. This year's matriculation will mark the long-awaited debut of Dowling Hall, and last year saw the opening of the cavernous Gantcher Convocation Center. Also, construction of a new Psychology building began at the end of the summer, and plans for a new state-of-the-art music building are being discussed, though the administration has encountered resistance from the Zeta Psi fraternity, whose house would be knocked down to make room for the new facility.

Besides "talented," "diverse" may be the word that best describest the new freshman class. The class of 2004 is one of the most racially diverse classes in Tufts history. Eight percent of enrolling students classify themselves as African American, up from three percent in 1993. Nine percent of the class is Hispanic, while 15 percent are of Asian descent.

The importance Tufts places on attracting a diverse student body has been evident to students who arrived early to campus this year. "I was surprised to see how much pride the University takes in its diversity," said freshman Oni Brown. "I applied to some schools where it seems like they only take minorities because they need it for numbers. Here they really seem to care about it."

The class of 2004 also hails from a variety of different ethnic and socio-economic backgrounds. Students are matriculating from over 40 different countries, and 13 percent of freshmen are foreign citizens or US citizens living abroad.

The most commonly represented foreign countries are China, the United Kingdom, Turkey, Canada, Greece, and Japan. Even within the US, freshmen are spread evenly over the country's socio-economic area, with 31 percent coming from small towns, 29 percent from medium sized cities and environs, 16 percent from large cities, and 31 percent from the suburbs of large cities.

JUMBO LOVE

We are the Tufts Jumbos

By Amanda Muñoz

"Is this school obsessed with elephants or something?" a prospective student once asked me on a tour. Well, yes, in a sense we are. We may be used to the sight of them by now, but to the rest of the world Tufts seems to be obsessed with elephants: they adorn our buildings, a cement elephant stands in our academic quad, and the word "jumbos" appears on t-shirts, sweatshirts, and even girls' bottoms.

Our school's "obsession" with all things pachyderm began with one of our founding trustees—P.T. Barnum, of the Barnum and Bailey Circus. At the time, the star of the Barnum & Bailey Circus was this gigantic elephant named Jumbo, which came from Swahili word "jumbe" for Chief. The legend of Jumbo is that it died while saving another elephant from getting hit by an oncoming train. Back then, the circus used to travel by train and when Jumbo saw that a baby elephant was still on the tracks, Jumbo pushed it aside, and sadly got hit by the train.

Barnum, grief-stricken that his prize elephant was killed, had Jumbo stuffed in what was considered the world's largest taxidermy project and was placed in Tufts' very own Barnum Hall, which was constructed around the giant beast. There, Jumbo stood for many years as sort of a historic symbol of the circus and of Tufts. Many students would visit Jumbo to put pennies in its trunk for good luck.

Disaster struck Jumbo once again in 1976 when a huge fire burned Barnum Hall – and Jumbo along with it – to the ground. According to the legend, only the tail and ashes of Jumbo survived the fire. The tail supposedly resides in Barnum Hall today, wrapped carefully in a box, a sacred piece of our beloved mascot. And the ashes were scooped up and put in a peanut butter jar and are handed from athletic director to athletic director and are kept in the Athletics Office. A smaller replica of Jumbo (Jumbo II as some call it) now stands in front of the rebuilt Barnum Hall. Students today continue to flick pennies onto Jumbo's trunk for good luck on final exams.

While I contend that the elephant is, for sure, an odd mascot, I reassure prospective students that if they do come to Tufts, they will not help but have an affinity for elephants. I don't know anyone who doesn't own an elephant stuffed animal or a Jumbos sweatshirt. So, when I'm asked, "what's with all the elephants?" it's easy for me to proudly answer: "We are the Tufts Jumbos."

Student Life

Remembering The Class of 2004

"The class that got snow days both freshman and junior year (maybe senior year , too?)" - Yasmine Iliya

"We're diverse, we're smart, our senate got some stuff done... I mean, was there one big thing? I don't think so. We just were a good class... and only 40 of us lived on campus junior year" -Anonymous

I'll Never Forget...

'...nights freshman year when I was chilling with friends in the common room, with a few guys palying guitar while the rest of us sat back and enjoyed being there.'
- Karyn Blaser

'...Sitting in Dewick until they kicked us out."
- Jessica Rutstein

"...Painting the cannon on a freezing cold night and having the sprinkler system come on."
-Josh Belkin

"...sledding down the president's lawn from 10 in the morning until 1 in the morning the next day during the snow day of my freshman year, and then tearing all the ligments in my ankle on my way to class. Strange huh? I didn't hurt myself knocking my head into trees while sledding, but i was in a boot cast for like three months just from losing my balance on the way to class..."
- Rakhi Lahiri

From freshman year to senior year, from doubles to singles to houses with friends. We made Tufs our home and our friends became our family.

"I remember how much South Hall rocked. The combination of lots of freshmen, a few outgoing sophmores, and lazy RAs made for a great freshman year experience."

"Freshman year? Having my shoes stick to the floor in frat houses, the flooded bathrooms at lewis, staying up till 3am just giggling with my roomate, and dying my hair orange for haloween."

"Walking around the halls of my dorm at any time, day or night, there were always doors open and friends to chill with."

Our beds provided us with a place to relax, hang out, bond and goof off.

Once in a while every Jumbo is known to drop the studying, take a break from the path to over-achieving, and just go out and have a good time.

You can always find a Jumbo at:

Fanueil Hall
Joshua Tree
Landsdowne St
PJ Ryans

"I never wanna grow up—"

TUPD Alert:
Buying a carpet at 3 in the morning is always a sign of trouble - Me and my roommate went to the 24-hr Home Depot in Boston and got a carpet that was a little too big and wouldn't fit in my car. So we let it hang out the window, who knew we'd get stopped by TUPD? The cop shines his flashlight in my face and says, "Is that a dead body in your car?"
"Uh no dead bodies here, just a rug."
"Oh, ok. Well, you have a good night now." And with no other words, he drove away. Phew!

-David Mencel

Here, "go to your room" really means "get in the paddy wagon"....

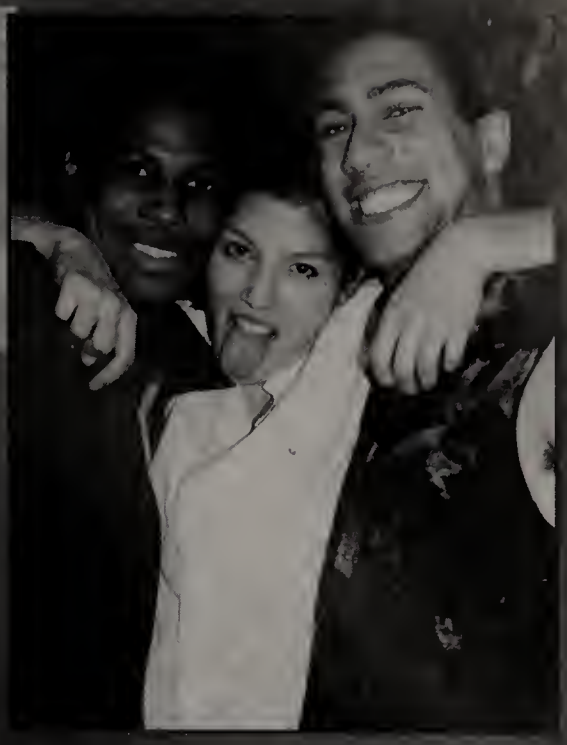

... you can always call on the fab three to rescue you from trouble.

The Jumbo's definitely know how to exercise their vocal cords, be cool, and how to let it all go and just boogie.

"During a party in Hillside, TUPD knocks on the door around midnight. Everyone was warned not to open the door. But my genius friend, as drunk and smashed as she was, forgets two seconds later and opens the door to their second knock. To top it all, she tosses her beer aside and runs away screaming, "I'm not 21!"

-Hannah Suh

"I had to jump into the bathroom stall to avoid the RA from catching us torching a cockroach with deodorant spray and a lighter. "

- James Mitchell

What we wish we knew ... and what we learned along the way.

"I wish I knew that the four years at Tufts goes by faster than one can ever imagine."

"I wish I knew I didn't have to buy every text-book freshman year."

"I wish I knew that the more groups I joined, the more people I would meet because you don't really meet anyone in classes."

"I wish I knew I didn't have to have a roommate junior year. '

"I wish I found out before se-nior year that I don't have to do all my readings word-for-word."

The bonds we make are priceless.

"First impressions are not what they seem."

"I wish I had I explored more with different classes and activities."

"In middle school, I always wanted to get to high school. In high school, I always wanted to get to college. But in college, I want to stay in collge!"

"Life is just gonna happen, but it always ends up working out. You don't have to have all the answers before graduating."

-Rakhi Lahiri

Winter Wonderland

"People don't notice whether its winter or summer when they're happy."
~Anton Chekhov

"In the depth of winter, I finally learned that within me there lay an invincible summer"
~Albert Camus

And when the snow melts, the Tuftonians like to celebrate a la Spring Fling with the only all day adult beverage live music lawn party.

There is nothing quite like the waking up to kegs n' eggs breakfast, lounging in the sun with some 40's, taking a power nap, and going out to finish the day off.

Out and About

Things you must do before you leave Tufts:

- ☐ I - Cruise
- ☐ Spring Fling
- ☐ Naked quad run
- ☐ Sleep on the library roof
- ☐ Paint the cannon
- ☐ SOC
- ☐ Kids day
- ☐ Tailgate at homecoming

"You can't leave without having painted the cannon, made a Harvard joke or complained about the Hill."

"Every Student should take the opportunity to get involved in anything they think they would be interested in, whether it be culture groups, sports, academic groups, comunity service etc. starting from freshman year- dont put off things till senior year because you migh not get a chance to do everything!" - Rakhi Lahiri

I Wish I Had...

...Taken a class in every department - I wish I had tried ALL of them

-Emily Rhodes

...gotten the name of the guy who opened the door for me at Dowling in the rain.

- Hannah Suh

...Taken some fun classes like body works (massaging). I never had space for them.

...Painted myself brown and blue and gone streaking at the homecoming game.

Tufts away from Tufts...

"In Spain, you might think the word "excitado" means excited, like "happy, happy, joy, joy," but it really means excited, sexually excited, like being turned on. So when you want to say you're excited in Spanish, don't use "excitado" like I did (especially in papers)"

-Courtney Benson

Despite the fact that the Greeks invented - so to speak - democracy - they still have to figure out plumbing. You can't flush toilet paper down the toilets anywhere in Greece.

GIRLS GONE WILD!!!

Even though Tufts students love to dress up for any occasion, there is nothing quite like

Halloween on the Hill

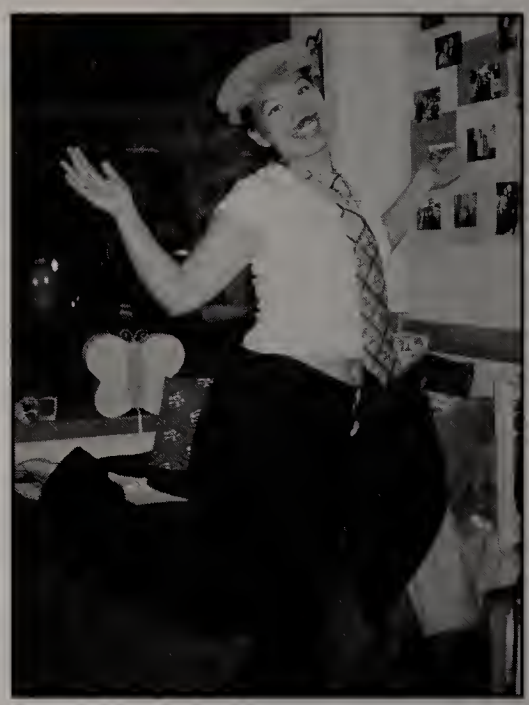

The guys dress as girls; and the girls dress as guys.

School girls are naughty and a feather boa and wig become necessities.

BEHIND YOU

A break from studying, from midterms, and from the freezing New England weather!

"I guess I should have realized I was in trouble during my first night in Cancun when I decided to down a yard glass of Long Island iced tea in under two minutes and proceed to follow it up with several tequila shots... I finally did stop drinking... when I woke up four hours later, slumped in a chair in the parking lot!!" -Anonymous

What's a favorite spring break location for the Jumbos?

Acapulco
Bahamas
California
Cancun
Europe
Miami
Montreal
Puerto Rico
South Padre Island

Whether it's from a can, a bottle, a keg or a big trash can washed out and used as a punch bowl....Tufts students don't discriminate...

Make a toast...

Tufts students are multitalented, we can imbibe alcohol in so many ways:

Do a shot...

Or just chug!

Formals

Put on a smile, your best dress or suit, and dance the night away.

The Chinese Students Association brings Chinese culture to Tufts through cultural festival and other activities. Hence, most of the events organized by the CSA revolve around Chinese culture, though certain events may vary from year to year as our members offer new suggestions. Typically, we hold annual Chinese New Year celebrations and also introduce various types of Chinese food and games to people. Overall, the ultimate goal of the CSA is to convey to all Tufts students the meaning and significance of being Chinese.

Alpha Omicron Pi (AOPi)

Our sisters are members and leaders of various student organizations including Order of Omega, Tufts Cheerleaders, Tufts Dance Collective, the rugby and swim teams, The Observer and The Tufts Daily, the Jackson Jills and Essence, the Inter-Greek and Panhellenic Councils, the Leonard Carmichael Society, Pen Paint & Pretzels and Torn Ticket II, University Chamber Singers and Chorale, The Catholic Community at Tufts, Golden Key National Honor Society... the list goes on and on!

As you can see, each sister is unique in her own way, but we all share the common bond of the AOII sisterhood. We know that whenever we need someone to talk to, to cry on, or to laugh with...an AOII sister will be there for us. Being part of this organization for four years means so much to our sisters, and this is something we will take with us after college, as AOII lasts for a lifetime.

Each semester the sisters of Delta Chapter participate in several philanthropies to benefit both local and campus causes and the AOII Foundation. All the money we raise for the AOII Foundation is donated to our international philanthropy-- Arthritis Research . Since 1967, the Alpha Omicron Pi Foundation has given almost $1 million in grants to find the cause and cure for arthritis.

Every fall semester we have our Mystery Date semiformal "Alpha Love." Each sister fills out a questionnaire about their dream date. Then our Alpha Love chair gets busy setting up all of the sisters with their dream dates and crushes. We hold this semiformal off-campus at a hotel, and we all have a fantastic time. And, if your date doesn't work out...you know that you will always have sisters there to still have a great time with! Our Spring Formal this year was at the Inn at Longwood Medical, Best Western, in Boston. All of the sisters dress in the most beautiful gowns, and it's always nice to see boys in tuxedoes. :-)

Leonard Carmichael Society (LCS)

For 45 years, the Leonard Carmichael Society (LCS) has been providing Tufts University with community service opportunities. Our mission is to create a more socially sensitive and responsible world. We accomplish this through experiential learning, advocacy and education.

Currently, LCS has 37 different programs addressing a wide range of concerns including hunger and homelessness, literacy and education, youth mentoring and health issues. Volunteers work in the Medford, Somerville and greater Boston area, as well as throughout the Eastern United States with the Volunteer Vacations program.

Some of our fall events include FOCUS, a Pre-orientation program for freshmen, Jumbothon, a 12-hour dance-a-thon for charity, an annual semi-formal, which this year benefited Somerville Headstart and a football tournament to support the Make-a-Wish Foundation. The spring semester includes the annual Faculty Waits on You Dinner and Auction, as well Kids's Day. Blood drives, as well as many other volunteer efforts, occur throughout the year.

Zamboni

The purpose of The Zamboni is to provide a forum for comic essays, satirical articles, student cartoons and anything else considered humorous. We remain within the boundaries of good taste while providing the student body with material that no other campus publication will feature.

Tufts Daily

Yearbook

The Tufts University Yearbook incorporates the talents of many students who completely produce the annual publication for the graduating class. Staff members organize portrait sittings, photograph events, design layouts, write articles, and edit pages.

Tufts Community Union Senate

The TCU Senate is the largest branch of student government at Tufts. There are a total of 28 Senators elected by class, and community reps from various campus groups. The Senate's role on campus is two fold. First, The Senate serves as a liason between students and the administration, and works on initiatives to improve student life. Second, they are entrusted to allocate and disburse the $1-million student activities fee to over 130 groups who have asked for funding.

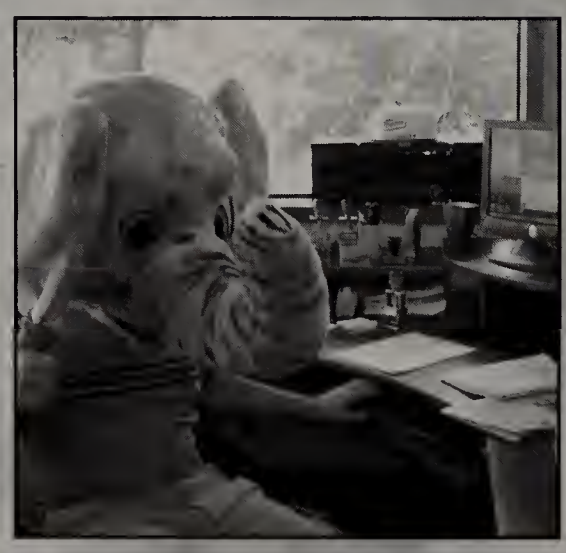

This year has been a very important year for Senate full of many accomplishments. The Treasury has increased the financial health of the TCU, the new online progress tracker keeps students aware of what is happening, the first Fall Ball brough 2,000 students to together and the Nighttime Quad Reception (NQR) enhanced the long-standing Naked Quad Run tradition.

Tufts Community Union Judiciary (TCU

The Tufts Community Union Judiciary is the branch of student government responsible for tl rulings of constitutionality concerning the actio of the Senate and other campus organizations, a well as recognizing new organizations. Seven members, elected from any of the four classes, serve on the TCUJ.

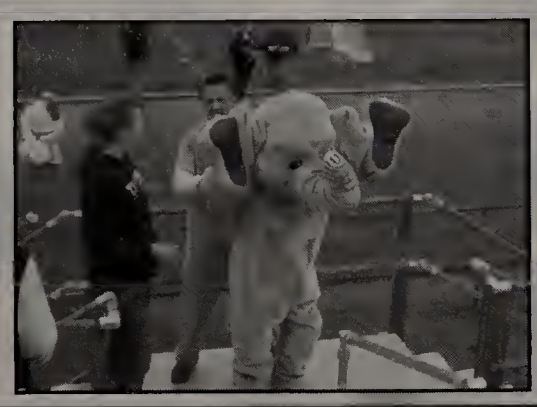

Tufts University Spirit Coalition (TUSC)

fts University Spirit Coalition (TUSC), headed by Caroline nnedy and Sarita Parekh, plans the annual Homecoming p Rally and the Homecoming Parade. This year, for the st time, they moved the Pep Rally into the Campus Center, d put together a special half-time contest where the prize s free tuition. Even though it rained on their parade, they shed forward and brought out the brown and blue spirit in eryone on campus. In the spring they plan Tuftonia's Day ufts' birthday) and celebrate with a fireworks show and rbeque on the Residential quad.

A Capella & Performance Groups

16mm Productions

Tufts' student film group founded in 1997 produces one student written film every year. Their first produced film, MacGuffen, and their most recent film, So Low, are being shown on campus and on TUTV.

Traveling Treasure Trunk

Tufts' children's theater company performs a series of short plays each semester in local schools, hospitals and day care centers. Co-sponsored by 3Ps and the Leonard Carmichael Society, TTT is a community service theater group. The troupe holds auditions each semester and performs twice yearly on campus.

HYPE Mime Group

Tufts' mime troupe was establish in 1998. Their shows are compris of short vignettes written by Hyp members and set to music. They perform every semester in vario locations around campus.

sQ!

TDC is a student-run, extracurricular, modern dance group open to students of all levels and experience. TDC also sponsors dance workshops, as well as fall and spring concerts. Tufts Dance Collective Shares Love of Dance with All, by Melissa Laudano One of the many opportunities for performance at Tufts is the Tufts Dance Collective (TDC), a non-audition student-run performance group that allows students with different levels of dance experience to get involved. At the beginning of the semester TDC sponsors an informational meeting open to any students interested in participating where the student choreographers give an overview of their dances and the practice time involved. Students will typically rehearse an hour per week throughout the semester for each dance they have selected. The fruits of this labor are displayed in two performances each year. The TDC shows, held at the end of each semester in Cohen Auditorium, showcase about twenty student choreographed dance routines and often feature guest performers such as TURBO (Tufts' break dancing organization) and Tufts' Bhangra troop. The TDC performances includes hip-hop, tap, modern, and jazz dances. The Fall 2001 semester show had audience members dancing in their seats to songs like "Busta Move" by Young MC, "Naked Eye" by Luscious Jackson, and "Devil Went Down to Georgia" by the Charlie Daniels Band. The variety of styles allows students to explore many different types of dance, but they all do have one thing in common - they are filled with explosive energy. The Tufts Dance Collective always presents shows that reflects its members' love of dancing. In addition to their performances, the Tufts Dance Collective also offers an annual "master class" taught by a professional dancer. This class too is open to anyone in the Tufts community who is interested. Through this class and through the non-audition dance performances, the Tufts Dance Collective fulfills its mission of providing a forum for all to learn more about dance and serves as an outlet to meet new people who share an interested in this art.

Essence

"Essence is Tufts' only all-female a capella group that specializes in music of the African Diaspora. It is such an honor to be part of a group of soulful, talented women, who continue to evolve and further engrave their mark on the Tufts campus. Happy 10th anniversary!"

Cheap Sox

Cheap Sox, Tufts' improvisational comedy troupe, offers a show of spontaneous delight and audience participation. Taking suggestions from the audience, the troupe weaves a series of unpredictable scenes, stunts, and buffoonery that has ranged from Pet Shop Cuisine to a baby nursery on the Starship Enterprise. The troupe regularly performs on campus and participates annually in the Skidmore National Comedy Festival.

Spirit of Color (SoC)

Created in 1993 as a "means of cultural expression through singing acting and dancing", Spirit of Color (aka: SoC) has become one of Tuft's most popular performing arts troupes. Now strictly a dance group (although our between-dance skits have had their moments), our shows primarily feature hip-hop, jazz and ethnic (recently latin, indian, african, hawaiian and filipino tinikling) dance styles but have also included stepping, tap, ballet/lyrical, bboying and techno/glowstick dancing. We routinely sell out our end-of-semester shows in the 600+ seat Cohen Auditorium at the Aidekman Arts Center, located downhill on Talbot Ave., and are known for always having a loud, active and VERY enthusiastic audience. Throughout the shows friends, familiy, secret admirers and fellow SoC'ers alike scream and holla' for dancers onstage, backstage, sidestage, understage, where ever, but they are always...loud! Plus, people in the crowd get their chance to show us what they've got in the always-crazy intermission dance contest!!! We have also performed pieces at other Tufts dances groups' shows, including the SCOPE show and Boston's City Year.

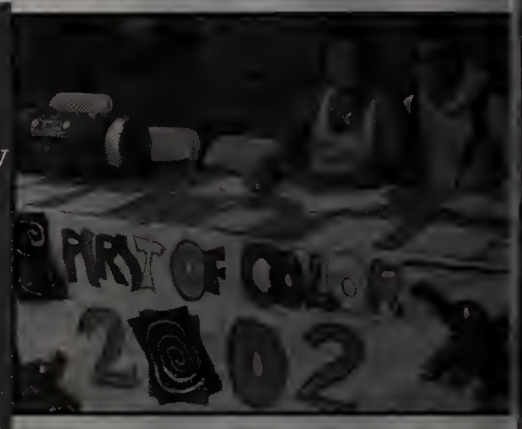

Torn Ticket II

Tufts' only musical theater group, Torn Ticket II produces one major show each semester, as well as a show during orientation week. Occasionally, TTII will also produce a minor production as well as arrange trips to see different musicals in the Boston area. Recent major productions were Cabaret, West Side Story, The Wizard of Oz, A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum, and Jesus Christ Superstar. Weekly meetings are held in the Campus Center and all interested students are encouraged to attend.

Pen, Paint & Pretzels (3P)

3Ps is a drama honor society and is Tufts' oldest student organization, recently celebrating its 90th anniversary. It serves as an umbrella organization for all of the other student drama groups on campus. 3Ps produces two major productions, one orientation show and several minor productions every year. Recent major productions include: Oscar Wilde's The Importance of Being Earnest, Neil Simon's Rumors, Tony Kushner's Angels in America and Edward Albee's Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? 3Ps also produces a freshman play every year, which is directed and mentored by an upperclassman, but with the cast and production staff comprised of freshmen (in 1999 the play was Wait Until Dark and in 2000 Suburbia). Weekly meetings are held in the Balch Arena Theater and all students are encouraged to attend.

Sarabande Repertory Dan Ensemble

Sarabande is a student dance company which performs modern, j ballet and character dance. Auditions and performances of origina student choreography occur each semester. Sarabande Repertory Dance Ensemble was founded to allow Tufts University dancers a choreographers the opportunity to perform quality repertory wor in a professional atmosphere. Sarabande is not limited to one dan style, for we offer an array of dance pieces choreographed by the members themselves. Works consisting of ballet, jazz, modern, tap hip-hop and more can be seen in our shows every semester.

Tufts Republicans

The Tufts Republicans club is dedicated to bringing light upon this Walnut Hill, our country, and the world. A 100-member student organization, we strive to promote Republican and conservative ideas at Tufts University through education, activism, and political involvement. The Tufts Republicans have been the conservative voice for generations of Tufts students and carry on this proud tradition.

Coalition for Social Justice and Non-Violence

In short, our mission is to: increase awareness around broad issues of social justice and nonviolence; provide space and support (administrative, organizational, and/or financial) for students to mobilize around current on-going issues; to promote solidarity and communication between existing campus organizations via the newsletter, monthly meetings, and the website; to network with off-campus groups and organizations; to promote longevity of activism around issues of social justice and nonviolence

Environmental Consciusness Outreach (ECO)

The purpose of the Environmental Consciousness Outreach is to increase environmental awareness through both education and action. The goal of environmental awareness is to think of the global environment as interlinked and to understand the effects of our individual and collective actions upon the global environment. ECO will strive to raise the awareness of both the Tufts community and the surrounding area.

Tufts Alpine Ski Team (42!)

The Tufts Ski Team competes in the Thompson Division of the USCSA. Every winter weekend, while the rest of Tufts is inside complaining about the most recent Noreaster, we are embracing the cold and dominating race courses across New England. The women's team, Team Betty, has placed in the top three positions in the division since the class of 2004 arrived at Tufts. The men's team gets schooled by Team Betty each race, but that's cool, we all go down fast. Team Bob also has a strong line-up lead by a lively group of seniors always in pursuit of beating the Swedes. Team Betty's and Team Bob's forces combined always ensures vicious snowball fights, unabating school spirit, and kickin' parties. The love for the sport keeps us going and as Warren Miller stated, "Socrates once said, 'No man is ever free.' Well Socrates never skied." True.

PERIODIC TABLE OF THE ELEMENTS

From the President and Provost to the Class of 2004

Dear Members of the Class of 2004,

Yearbooks capture memories. Most of the memories are visual. Thirty years from now, you may pick up this book, scan its pages, and reflect on the experiences and memories that lie within. I hope they will bring a smile to your face.

I would like to share with you some of the memories I have of our time together. I will never forget September 11, 2001 and the way in which our community came together in support of each other. Kids Day, the Giving Camp, and the Foster Children's Party are memories that will stay with me always. You brought joy to the faces of children who are less fortunate than others. Your compassionate outreach made me proud of you. Remember the snow day in February, 2003 when we all 'dug out' and went sledding down the lawn? I recall the vigorous debate about free speech and its limits, prompted by President George H. W. Bush's visit to our campus to deliver the Fares Lecture. The football team's Homecoming 2003 victory over Amherst, in overtime, is a terrific memory, as is the superb performance of Mahler's Symphony No. 1 by our orchestra during Parents Weekend. I will never forget training for and running the 2003 Boston Marathon with 36 Tufts students, alumni, staff and friends, including two of your classmates. I suspect some of you were part of the 250 Tufts volunteers that lined the Marathon course on race day to cheer us on.

In all, there are many fun snapshots that come to mind when I think about the Class of 2004, and all the life that you brought to The Hill.

Adele and I would like to thank you for making our first three years at Tufts so interesting and rewarding. Please stay in touch with us, with the faculty and staff, and with the university. We will follow your careers with great interest and will enjoy learning how you have put your Tufts education to good work throughout the world. You have enriched our lives in a very precious way. We wish you well, and look forward to your future successes.

Sincerely,
Lawrence S. Bacow
President

To the Tufts Class of 2004,

Congratulations on your graduation!

You matriculated to Tufts in the fall of 2000 and have experienced a great deal during your four years here. Since your arrival there has been much change, both in the world at large and more locally. While at Tufts you have seen the election of a new US president, the terrorist attacks of September 11th, 2001 and the war in Iraq. At Tufts you have completed a major - in some cases, two or three - studied abroad, learned from your peers, and learned more about yourself. You are a different person from the one who came to campus in 2000.

By virtue of your Tufts education alone, you have had opportunities that millions of others in the United States and abroad will never access. As you move forward, you and your peers will have to grapple with a world much more complex than the one your parents' generation inhabited — a world with growing disparities among its people; with civil strife between ethnic groups; with economic, political, cultural and environmental conflict. You graduate into a world with a multitude of challenges, and because of your talent and intelligence you have the unique opportunity to do something about these challenges.

Use the opportunities you have had, the education you have received and the experiences you have shared, to do good by others. You have incredible intelligence, ingenuity and ability, and I look forward to watching your future accomplishments.

I wish you the best of luck in your future endeavors.

Sincerely,
Jamshed Bharucha

Dearest Lisa, Our hearts are filled with pride for all that you are- compassionate and sweet, industrious and effective, smart and knowledgeable, funny and fun, generous, honest, responsible and strong. And oh so adventurous. You know ow to dream and how to make dreams come true. Congratulations on your graduation.
All our love always, Mom and Dad

Hey Lis, remember when we used to share a bedroom... a bedroom with that lovely shag carpet? I couldn't fall asleep without the nightlight AND the hall light on AND you had to be facing my way. But you, you were never afraid of the dark. Even then you were fearless. And I've always admired that. I may be older, but you'll always be wiser - I hope that never changes, because I learn more from your wisdom than anything else. You're my girl, I love you. Congratulations donkey! Love, Ann achievement!!!

PUNEET GHAYAL

Shoot for the moon - even if you miss,
you'll land among the stars.

Good Luck for the future.

With lots of love from Pereen, Mom and Dad

...ve, your quiet dedication and unfailing determination have served you well. From the time you were little, you took things apart, you put things together, and you strove to be the best. You had no need for others to know, you had no insecure craving for acclaim - when you set out to prove something, you set out to prove it to yourself, and you succeeded. You continue to amaze us regularly, and our love and respect for you grows daily. We could not be more proud of you, as you should be immensely proud of yourself. Now go out and change the world and make your dreams come true. Love, Mom and Dad

Josh Benham

To be a Man is, precisely, to be responsible. It is to feel shame at the sight of what seems to be unmerited misery. It is to take pride in a victory won by one's comrades. It is to feel, when setting one's stone, that one is contributing to the building of the world.

Antoine de Saint-Exupéry

"LISSI, SO MANY FOUND MEMORIES, THANK YOU FOR THEM"

"TO OUR DEAR DAUGHTER, LISA, OUR DEAR QUEEN"

My dearest Lissi Pooh,

"Success is a journey not a destination" You had strived for that success fearless from the time you were a little girl, and today, May 23rd, 2004 you are graduating from a wonderful university, I am very proud of you!

I am proud of you not just because you have accomplished so many things but for the wonderful human being that you are. Lissi, you are, along with your sister Janik, my very best friend, and not parents could say this. You also are everyone's friend, you had dropped everything ALWAYS to help someone in need regardless if they were friends or not and that is because you are evey parents' dream, a gift of God.

Your friends adore you, your family could not survive without you and the fond memories we treasure together. I, as always, could write a letter, but I need to leave room for Janik, Bubba, and the pictures.

CONGRATULATIONS!!! and God Bless You!!!

Do not ever stop being this beautiful young lady that you are today, this world needs more people like you who forget about themselves to be a shoulder to cry on, a helping hand, someone to share happy and fun times and a open heart every minute of your life.

I love you, Maaaam

To my Lissi,

You are a joy to have around, to be in contact with you is like a bright sunlight on a cloudy day. You are very special!

For

Vanessa Ann Baehr-Jones

The Lord is my pace-setter, I shall not rush;
He makes me stop and rest for quiet intervals,
He provides me with images of stillness,
that restore my serenity.
He leads me in the way of efficiency,
through calmness of mind.
Even though I have a great many things to accomplish each day,
I will not fret, for His presence will keep me in balance.
He prepares refreshment and renewal,
in the midst of activity,
by anointing my mind with his tranquility;
my cup of joyous energy overflows.
Surely harmony and effectiveness shall be the fruits of my hours,
And I shall walk in the paths of my God,
And dwell in His house forever.

Your Mom, Dad and family love you and are very proud, as we always have been.

May your dreams and goals become your future accomplishments.

The word of the Lord came to me, saying
"Before I formed you in the womb I know you,
before you were born I set you apart;
I appointed you as a prophet to the nations."
"Ah, Sovereign Lord, " I said, "I do not say,'I am only a child.' You must go to everyone I send you to and say whatever I command you. Do not be afraid of them, for I am with you and will rescue you," declares the LORD.

Congratulations Frank and the Class of 2004

Dear Frank,

Traveling into the shock of future with luggage of the past in hand
Starting out in the chaos of possibility with childish expectations and the memories of dreams dreamed
Searching for a glimpse of the answer in a tomorrow somewhat better
I see a figure approaching in the distance singing new songs with new stories to tell
He walks in a deliberate way that is familiar and carries answers in his heart
As he holds out his hand to help me I look up and see
The face of my son
And my soul is satisfied – Leon Russell

You met the challenge with your own inner strength, and have successfully achieved another milestone in your life. Forever maintain and reflect those qualities gained by your college experience. All About my Daughter Remi(Oluremi) was born little, but she has always had a big heart, willing to help anyone in need. I could not have asked for a better daughter, she is a role model and a mentor to her two brothers. I call her "mother" because of her ability to assess situations and give good and sound advice. Remi is extremely focused, goal oriented and straight forward; she is not afraid to speak the truth no matter what the consequences might be. I know that she will succeed in all that she does, by the grace of God. Thanks Remi, and continue to make all of us proud of you.

In Loving Memory of Our Classmates.

What do you get when you mix intellectual, fun, unpredictable, eventful, ever-changing, and exhilarating together? Well naturally the Tufts experience summed up in six words. Ladies and gentlemen the greatest irony is that as this wonderful journey through college culminates I believe I am joined by the class of 2004 in the realization that not even a thousand words can sum up this remarkable experience. I congratulate the graduating class of the year 2004 on this achievement! Though we embark upon a new chapter in our life, one that is filled with uncertainty, hope, excitement, and fear, we will always have the unbelievable friends we have made here and the skills and knowledge we have accumulated. Some say "college is the best four years of your life", but in reality every year of your life is unique and amazing in its own way. So as my favorite person Dr. Seuss once said "Don't cry because its over, smile because it happened!"

Producing this book has been a challenging process, full of ups and downs, but the experience as a whole was unforgettable and I am tremendously grateful for all it has taught me. Through the editor position I have come across people who are incredibly inspiring. I'd like to thank Tom Keeley and Caren Orlick Korin for your wonderful support and help through all of my questions and frustrations. You never once gave up on me and I am grateful for that. Jodie Nealley for being a mentor, a guide, and a supporter through all of the challenges this year has thrown at me and at our school as a whole. Dot McAveeney, Ray Rodriguez, and Ed Cabellon for putting up with my daily visits, my million and one questions, and for putting a smile on my face when I most needed it.Thank you to my staff and co-editor, for all the wonderful work, time, and effort put into the production of the book this year, without you it would not have been possible!

Tufts will always have a special place in my heart due to the experiences I have had here and the amazing people I have met along the way who changed my views, opinions, and life itself. Emily, you are my rock, my constant, my amazing, funny, crazy, always up for an adventure friend. You have been the greatest support system I've had through college. Thanks for yelling at me when I was being silly and stupid and also thanks for just sitting with me when I could not have endured being alone. You are a true gift! I will never forget the 2 hour dinners full of chicken nuggets threats, inappropriate comments, laughing fits with you and Steph. My Econ partners in crime Suman, Mike, Guy, Patty and Nikhil, thanks for the fun filled long nights at Tisch, crazy arguments and conversations, and most of all for teaching me everything I needed to know! Ski Team!!! 42!!! Tufts would not have been as rich and exciting if I hadn't met you guys. Never forget Waterville, swoop the 3rd gate, crazy Red Rose, Gaaaarrr, end of the year madness, road trips, Cranmore week, offroading, and naturally 3-man and the wild parties, Team Bob, Team Betty, Team CRAZy!! Thanks you guys, Courtski, Silly Gilly, Swoopin Erin, Krafft the snake, Nate, Bobo, Steeb, Max, Matt, Eliza, Lael ya'll rocked my world…on skis! Talloires '02, unbelievable, remarkable, fantastic, breathtaking, merci for all the fun to Steeny, Laura, Andrea, Sarah, Alex, Canadia! 58 Conwell: Abby and Julie oh the wild wild betaep! Justine and Lauren (my Oberlin free spirit), you two know way too much for us to ever get into a fight. I love you! Can't wait for NYC with you girls, this time when we're all grown up!

Most importantly thank you to my family. Babulya, Dedulya, Vadik, Vladik, Olya, Banya, Julia, you are my support, my life, my roots, my source of love and laughter. Mamulya, I couldn't have gotten here without you. You have inspired me and given me strength through all of my life. You are the most courageous, strong, passionate, loving, caring, and intelligent woman I know. Thank you. Don't worry I'll get a job soon I promise! Thank you for believing in me, pushing me, standing by me, and most of all for putting up with me your, most of the time sweet, leo child. I love you with all my heart!

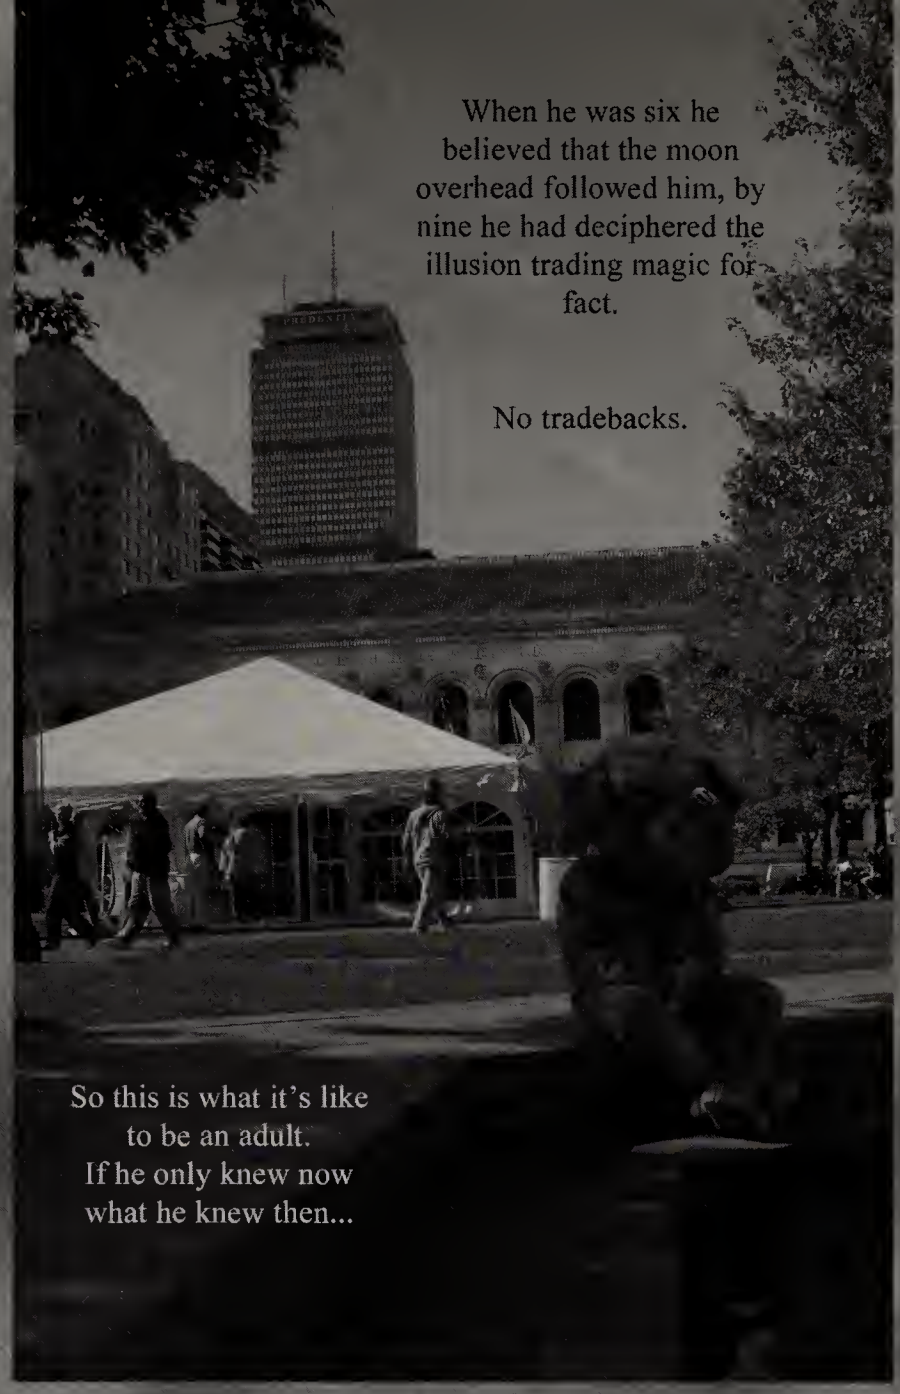

Class of 2004, I wish you luck, keep dreaming and believing because I know all of you are going to inspire, provoke change, lead, and be brilliant!

Editor-in-Chief

Class of 2004, here's your yearbook, I hope you like it. A lot of hard work was put into it. I've been asked many times why I worked on it this year, and after months of careful deliberation I still don't have an answer for you, but I guess if you guys enjoy it, if it reminds you of all your great times on the hill, it will at least have been worth it. To be honest I don't know all that many of you (although I do probably know your majors), but the ones I do know will be missed. The folks from the daily, Adam and Ethan, you guys are incredible. I don't think there are many people on this campus that could make that paper come out each and every day but you two manage it with aplomb. Emily, it was great to work a late night with you. I am always impressed by your professionalism. Good luck with the AP. Nick, you made that place fun. I won't forget (or is it remember?) redesign night. Amanda, you bring a smile to an often dreary office. I hope you like this book as much as we all know you liked Tufts. Elliott Wiley Jr., the one and only. I don't think the office or the court will be the same without you. Thanks for the laughs man. To J. Ho's Allstars, it's a shame we had to meet at the bitter end but I still had a blast with y'all. In a few years when Maggie and Martha are professional Chem E's, Max is philosophizing, Emily's a lush and Pete's a rockstar we can have a little reunion at one of Pete's gigs. I promise not to get us kicked out this time. Anna, it's finally done. I hope you can look back and be proud of it. You did a great job, and I'm sorry I wasn't more helpful. To everyone else I know, who may or may not read this, thanks. Tom and Caren, you guys are great. This could have never been done without you. To my family, especially my parents, thanks for always believing in me. To my friends here, we're half way there. I know some of you are happy about this and some may be sad, but in two years you better be helping me out with this thing, putting all our great, and not-so-great memories into it. JRH, I'm not sure I can say much more than I already have, thank you for your support and for keeping me going, I love you. Seniors, congrats on graduation, good luck with whatever life brings you.
